摘 要
After having experienced college life, one of the main things you get to experience are the variety of events and societies you can be part of during the 4 years. In this project we wished to provide a medium for students to be able to manage all their events including adding, deleting events and reminders, whilst being able to obtain some statistics on the types of events they attend. We wanted this medium to allow for better time-management as well as self-management, so students can find a balance between their schoolwork and social life. In order to provide this medium, we designed an App compatible with Android, and through this app we hope to provide students with the necessary tools to manage both schoolwork and social life as well as possible, to help create a healthy balance and an overall better college experience.
